What your agency gets

Vacancies

Rank, vessel, contract, joining date, salary. Added in a minute, filtered by rank and vessel type, marked up for Google for Jobs. An expired vacancy closes by itself.

Application Form

Built like a crewing paper form: documents and certificates with expiry dates, sea service, CV in PDF or Word. Takes five minutes from a phone.

Admin panel

Applications open first. Statuses, notes, expiring documents in colour, a link from each application to its vacancy. Admin in English or Russian.

Three languages

English, Russian and Georgian are ready. Each can be switched on or off; the site opens in English or in the visitor's language.

Three designs

Harbor, Deck or Compass — switched in the admin, with your own brand colours. Works on any phone.

Google and AI

Fast pages, sitemap, structured data for search and job listings, llms.txt for AI assistants such as ChatGPT and Gemini.

Privacy and safety

No document numbers or scans asked online. Applications are deleted after 12 months. Login protection, every view logged, backups.

MLC 2006

Every form says applying is free: no fees from seafarers for employment (Regulation 1.4).

How it goes

1. Short meeting

Your vessels, ranks, languages and what is wrong with the current site.

2. You send materials

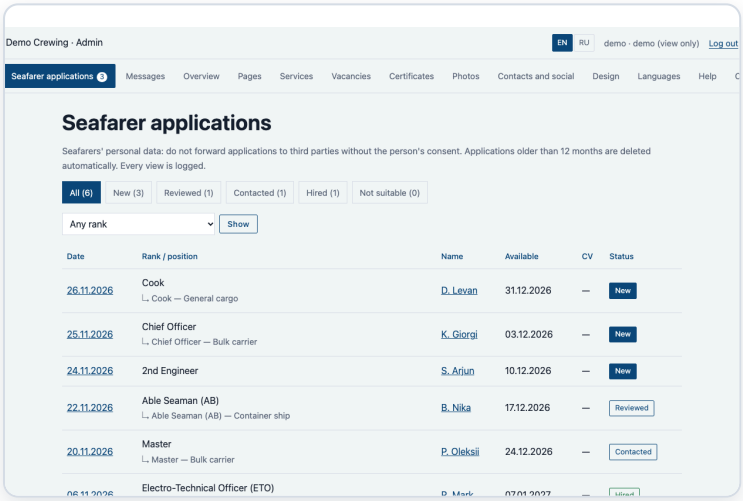

Logo, texts, contacts, licence, first vacancies — see the checklist.

3. Test address

The site on a temporary address: you check it from your phone, we fix.

4. Launch

Your domain, admin accounts for your staff and a short training.

Questions

Can we add vacancies ourselves?
Yes. In the admin: rank, vessel, dates — about a minute.

Is there a monthly fee for the website?
No licence fee. You pay only for your domain and hosting, to the provider.

Who owns the site and the data?
Your company: the domain and hosting are in your name, applications stay on your hosting.

Can we add another language?
Yes, for example Turkish — by agreement.

Do seafarers need to register?
No. They choose a vacancy and send the form from a phone.

Who makes it
